Plenary XI: Eyes Wide Open: Identifying and Combating Child Support Program Barriers and Inequities

Wednesday, March 3, 2021

11:00 AM - 12:30 PM ET

Systemic and institutional inequality is all around us and often creates barriers and unequal access to government programs, resources, and services. Come join us as we explore the ways that child support programs may be unintentionally disadvantaging people of color, poor families, and people with disabilities or other types of barriers. In this interactive session, our panel of experts will lead us on a discussion of what to look for with our eyes wide open and ways in which we can combat child support barriers and inequalities. Inward assessments are never easy but worth it for families to ensure equality and the best service to all.

Speakers: Tonya Brito, Judge Grace Dickler
